Action Pack is a twelve-level course for Jordanian students, leading them from the Basic to the Secondary stage. It is based on the most modern methods of teaching language, combining a topic-based approach with functional language practice, careful attention to grammar and vocabulary and a comprehensive skills syllabus.

This level is for Grade 7 students.

The Action Pack series offers learners:

- modern, interesting and relevant topics
- a clear and systematic approach to grammar, with thorough practice
- integrated skills which work with a particular focus on reading and writing
- consistent building and recycling of vocabulary
- special sections devoted to functional and situational language
- project work at the end of every module
- the development of critical thinking skills

Each level of Action Pack consists of a Student's Book, an Audio Cassette, an Activity Book and a comprehensive Teacher's Book.

What do you do?

Outcomes

You will be able to:

- predict the meanings of new vocabulary items
 - talk about people's jobs, sports and routines
 - listen to people talk about their jobs
 - read about people's reasons for choosing dangerous jobs or sports
 - review the time and the days of the week
 - practise the Present Simple tense to talk about your own routines and sports
 - write an email
- Project: Make a periscope

Before you start

Look at the pictures. Do you like travelling by plane? Do you like airports?

- 1  Listen to the words below in context. Try to guess their meanings.

exciting, boring,
dangerous, safe,
interesting, challenging

- 2  Listen again and check your guesses in the Activity Book Glossary pages 69–70 or in the classroom dictionary.

- 3 Follow the instructions below.

Work in a group. Look at the man in the picture above. What does he do? Imagine you were this man. Write down some notes about your routine: What time do you begin work? Where do you fly? Are you happy with your job? Is it interesting, boring, challenging? Use the words in the box to describe your everyday routine.

- 4 In a group, discuss different jobs and grade them on a scale from 0 to 10, in which 0 is boring and 10 is exciting. Then choose one and think of a daily routine for it.

A day in the life of a pilot

Before you start
In pairs, check your notes about the life of a pilot.

- 1  Read the following paragraph, then listen and answer.

We always think that the life of an airline pilot is exciting and never boring. But is this true? What does a pilot do before the aeroplane takes off? What does he do after landing? Let's listen to the Jordanian pilot, Kareem Mahmoud.

- 2 Do your notes match Kareem's routine? In what way are they similar? In what way are they different?
- 3  Listen to Kareem Mahmoud again and fill in the missing verbs in his timetable.

check in land take off check get on

- a 9.50 p.m.: I check in with my airline.
b 10.00 p.m.: I check the flight details.
c 10.05 p.m.: I _____ the plane.
d 10.35 p.m.: The plane is ready to _____. e 03.05 a.m.: We _____ in Sao Paulo.

- 4  Listen to Kareem Mahmoud one more time and write down the words he uses from the box below. In pairs, try to guess their meanings.

Skills focus

Why do some people like danger?

Before you start
 Listen to the words in context. Try to guess their meanings.

policeman, fireman, miner, stuntman, artist, rally driving, scuba diving, rock fishing, rock climbing, mountain biking, horse riding

- 1 Listen again and check your guesses in the Activity Book Glossary pages 69–70 or in the classroom dictionary.
- 2 In a group, discuss how dangerous these activities and jobs are. Tell the others which of these activities and jobs you prefer. Do you do any of them? Do you know people who do them?

Find the words

- ▶ This person fights and puts out fires.
- ▶ This person performs dangerous actions in a film.
- ▶ This person digs out coal, gold, etc. from the ground.

A psychologist explains the reasons why people take up dangerous activities.

Why do people do it?

Journalist: Why do some people do dangerous activities and jobs?

Dr Fred: It is because there are two elements in danger: one is fear, the other is the need to defeat fear. When they defeat fear, people feel a physical reaction.

Journalist: So, do we always need to do dangerous activities to get this feeling?

Dr Fred: Not at all! Take a journalist, a football player or even an artist. They probably do not have to take physical risks. But the artist, the rock climber or the mountain biker feel the same physical enjoyment as a footballer after scoring a goal.

Journalist: What about people who work in dangerous professions?

Dr Fred: Well, policemen, firemen or even stuntmen share a certain type of personality with artists and sportsmen who practise dangerous sports. But they perform dangerous activities because these are part of their job.

Speaking Strategies: Hesitation

- When you are having a conversation, don't worry when you pause or stop.
- Use hesitation words to give you time to think (e.g. So ... / Well ... / And then...).

4 Read the interview again and answer these questions.

- Why do people perform dangerous activities or have dangerous jobs?
- What do a football player, a stuntman and a policeman have in common?
- In your opinion, in what way is a fireman different from a mountain biker?

5 Work in pairs. Choose one of the activities or jobs mentioned by Dr Fred. Prepare some notes explaining what you do and what you feel when you do it. Read the Speaking Strategies to exchange an interview with your friend.

VOCABULARY

6 What do we call the people who do these activities?
Write the corresponding forms.

Make a periscope

PROJECT 1

Before you start

Find two long, thin, empty boxes, two small mirrors, a roll of tape and scissors.

Your task is ...

To make a periscope like the one people use in submarines to see objects above the water.

A Your first assignment

Build a periscope. Follow these directions:

1. Take one box and cut the top off so the box is open.

2. Cut a square hole at the bottom of one side to make a little window.

3. Cut a line on the side near the hole at a 45-degree angle.

4. Put a mirror in the cut with the shiny side up.

5. Put one box on the table with the opening facing up and the window side facing you. Then put the second box on top of the first with the opening facing down and the window side facing away from you.

Repeat steps 1–4 for the second box.

6. Tape the two boxes together and look through the bottom window. You will be able to see what's on the other side!

B Your second assignment

Guess the hidden objects. Follow these directions:

1. Work in groups of three. Place 5 or 6 objects on the table.
2. One member of your group hides under the table while the other members remove one of the objects on the table.
3. He/She should then use the periscope to look at the remaining items and guess which one is missing.
4. Take turns to be the person who hides under the table.

Fighting global warming

Outcomes

You will be able to:

-  predict the meanings of new vocabulary items
-  talk about global warming using adverbs of time and frequency
-  listen to people talking about global warming
-  read an article about things you can do to save the Earth
-  practise the Imperative to prepare a list of actions
-  write information for a poster

 Project: Be a recycling champion

Before you start

Look at the pictures. Are storms in your country dangerous? Why are droughts so frequent nowadays? What do you know about global warming?

- 1  Listen to a specialist talking about global warming and write down notes.
- 2  Listen to the words below in context. Try to guess their meanings.

global warming, temperature, Earth, atmosphere, climate, drought, storm, flood, carbon dioxide, violent, to rain, to slow down/to accelerate, to warm up/to heat up, to freeze/to melt

- 3  Listen again and check your guesses in the Activity Book Glossary pages 70–71 or in the classroom dictionary.
- 4 In a group, discuss the consequences of global warming. Make a list of climate changes in Jordan or in the region (changes in the seasons, temperatures, rain and floods, wind, droughts, etc.)

Before you start

What is global warming?

What are its consequences?

Can you name some of its causes?

Reading Strategies: Prediction

- Before you read, look at the picture and the title. Try to guess what the text is about.
- Read the questions and try to guess the answers before you read.

What can we do to slow down global warming?

The oceans, the atmosphere, the hot and the cold parts of the planet, deserts and rainforests depend on the Earth's climate. But our climate is a complex system that depends on the sun.

Man's machines, cars, planes, trains and computers emit carbon dioxide which doesn't allow the heat from the sun to leave. When there is too much carbon dioxide in the atmosphere, the Earth's temperature goes up. This is called "global warming."

We must slow down global warming. Here are some simple things we can do:

- Walk or take the bus to school.
- Reuse and recycle paper, glass, plastic and aluminium.
- Turn off the water while you brush your teeth.
- Turn off the lights, the heating, the air conditioning, the TV or computers when you don't use them. Don't play video games all the time: they use a lot of energy!
- Plant trees or start a vegetable garden.
- Wear cool clothes in summer and turn down the air conditioning. In winter, wear warm clothes and turn down the heating.

1 Answer these questions following the Reading Strategies. Then read the article above and check your answers.

- How is man responsible for global warming?
- Why shouldn't we use computers or play video games all the time?
- In your opinion, what will happen if we don't try to slow down global warming?

2 Read this conversation between Nawal and Hisham and fill in the missing words.

temperature carbon melts warming climate rise

Nawal: I'm worried about global (1) _____.

Hisham: Oh! Come on! There is no global warming!

Nawal: Oh, Hisham! Of course there is! The Earth's (2) _____ goes up every year. There is too much (3) _____ dioxide in the atmosphere.

Hisham: Can you see carbon dioxide? Of course not! Where is it?

Nawal: It's around us! It affects the (4) _____. The temperature goes up. The ice in the Poles (5) _____. The sea levels (6) _____. Our planet is in danger!

Be a recycling champion

PROJECT 2

Your task is ...

To research the issue of littering in your school and think of a recycling solution.

A Your first assignment

Listen as your teacher gives you your instructions.

1 Focus

Select an area of your school where your group will start researching. Where will you begin?

2 Start looking

Go to your chosen location and look for litter there. At least one member of your group should act as a reporter making notes. What did you find? Where did you find it? Was there anything else with it?

3 Analyse your findings

Return to the classroom with your notes. Create a table with four columns: Paper, Plastic, Glass, Other. List each of the items you saw in the correct column. Also include the other information in your table (where you found it and what with). Look at your table to see if you can suggest answers for the following question:

1. Which exact locations had the most litter?
2. Were certain types of litter found in certain places?
3. Where would you recommend to place different types of recycling bin (paper, plastic, glass, etc.)?
4. What other recycling solutions can you think of?

B Your second assignment

Make a poster to present your information to the rest of the class.

You are now

AWASE
LEARN 2 BE

As you enter the British Museum, you go into the Great Court. There are two cafés, a souvenir shop, a bookshop and the famous Reading Room.

5 Visit the galleries to see famous objects like the Aztec turquoise serpent, the Sutton Hoo treasure and the Egyptian mummies.

Do you want to feel what people felt in the past? Visit the “Hands on” desks and touch the objects from the museum’s collection!

How can you get to the British Museum?

Simple! There are four underground stations near the museum. Get off at Russell Square. Walk down Southampton Row. Turn right at Great Russell Street. Look out for the road sign; it’s a one-way street. Walk past Bloomsbury Square on your left and Bedford Place and Montague Street on your right, and there you are. If you get to the traffic lights, you’re gone too far!

READING

3 Read this article about the British Museum and answer these questions.

- What are some of the objects found in the galleries of the museum?
- What activities can you do to help you learn about the way people lived in the past?
- What would you like to see in the British Museum? Why?

4 In pairs, take turns to give each other directions to get to the British Museum from the other underground stations.

VISIT THE ROMAN THEATRE IN AMMAN

Welcome to the Roman Theatre in Amman, one of the most amazing sights in the city. It was built in the second century CE (Common Era) in what was the Roman city of Philadelphia.

The theatre was divided into three parts: important people sat in the part nearest the stage and soldiers sat further away; ordinary people sat far away at the top of the theatre but because the theatre was so well designed they could still see and hear the actors.

Near the stage you will find the Jordanian Museum of Popular Traditions, and the Amman Folklore Museum where you can see traditional costumes and handicrafts.

You can get to the museum on foot from the centre of downtown, the modern part of Amman, or get a taxi from any of the central hotels.

SPEAKING AND WRITING

- 1 Read the brochure. What is special about the way the theatre was built?
- 2 In a group, make a list of interesting places in your city or in another city in Jordan.
- 3 Make a brochure about one of these places. Write down its main characteristics. Here are some ideas about what to include:
 - A map of the place and its surroundings, some photographs
 - Opening date or approximate age
 - Special characteristics of the building
 - How you can get there (underground, bus, taxi, car, on foot)
- 4 To make your brochure, follow the outline in exercise 3 and the brochure above. Then present your brochure orally to your class.

Petra comes back to life

7 July 2007

Today is a very important day for Jordan. A lot of people voted for Petra to be one of the new Seven Wonders of the World. The name Petra comes from the Greek word rock. The city received its name because its people, the Nabateans, constructed it from the land's stones in the 2nd century BC. Centuries after the Nabatean civilisation disappeared, archaeologists rediscovered the city in the 1800s. Recently, Petra gained its place as one of the top locations in the world. It will attract thousands of visitors who will come to explore this unique site in the future.

3 Use the Reading Strategies to answer these questions.

- How did the city of Petra get its name?
- In which century did archaeologists rediscover Petra?
- When was Petra chosen to be one of the new Seven Wonders?
- Why do you think people from all over the world voted for Petra?

Before you start

Look at the monument in the picture. What is it? What do you think it was used for?

The Great Pyramid of Giza is a great wonder. It was built thousands of years ago. The pyramid was a very large monument. It was the shape of a triangle. It was made of rocks from the land. The pyramid was a big tomb. Tombs were places where ancient kings and queens were buried. Pyramids had underground rooms.

The Pyramid of Giza had rooms for each of its kings and queens.

It was the tallest building made by man, for thousands of years.

The pyramid is still found today and it is in a very good condition.

SPEAKING AND WRITING

- 1 Read the report above. Then use the list of the seven locations you chose in exercise 5, page 48, and discuss in a group which location deserves to be a wonder.

LEARN 2 BE

Before you start

Find a large box, coloured paper, crayons or marker pens, a glue stick and scissors. You will need to use your wonder report.

Your task is ...

To make a diorama of your favourite wonder and tell your classmates about it.

A Your first assignment

The box is the land for your wonder to be built on.

- Draw and colour your favourite location with all its details.
- You may also add people and other smaller objects.
- Leave a small stand under the pictures you draw.
- Glue the drawings to soft cardboard.
- Decorate the inside of the box with crayons.

Remember: the wonder is ancient, so the people and places are old.

B Your second assignment

- Cut out the drawing of the wonder and the things around it with their stands.
- Put them in a box.
- Paste the stands in place.
- Use tape and thread to hang anything that comes from the sky above your wonder.

C Your third assignment

Present your wonder report to the class, telling them about it. Why did you choose it? What special characteristics made it a wonder of the world?

*diorama: a small three-dimensional model

Elementary, my dear Watson!

Outcomes

You will be able to:

- predict the meanings of new vocabulary items
- talk about the greatest detectives throughout history using the Past Simple tense
- practise the comparative and the superlative degrees to talk about the qualities of great detectives
- listen to a story to act it out
- read about famous detectives
- write a detective story

Project: Who did it?

1 Read the following conversation. Why do you think Sherlock Holmes and Dr Watson are such famous characters?

Sherlock Holmes sat at the breakfast table and gave me a walking stick. There was something written on it: "To Mr James Mortimer, from his friends - 1884."

'Well, Watson, what can you tell me about the owner of the stick?' asked Holmes.

'I think that Mr Mortimer is an old country doctor. His patients like him, so they gave him this walking stick.'

'Good!' said Holmes. 'Why do you think he's a country doctor?'

'Because this stick is very scratched. A city doctor does not carry such an old stick.'

Holmes took the stick from my hands and looked at it.

'Interesting! I think the man is a country doctor, but he is not old. He's a young, pleasant and absent-minded doctor.'

'How did you know that?'

'Elementary, my dear Watson. Only pleasant people get presents, and only absent-minded men forget their sticks.'

Before you start

Look at the picture. Who are these two men? What do you think they are doing?

Sherlock Holmes and Dr Watson

2 Go to the Glossary pages in the Activity Book pages 74–76 or use a classroom dictionary and look up the meaning of the words you don't know.

owner, patient, conclusion, method, interested, elementary, absent-minded, scratched intelligent, famous, wise, kind, logical, professional, pleasant

3 How did Sherlock Holmes find out who the owner of the stick was? In a group, use the same method to identify the owner of an object.

4 Do you want to be a detective? What makes a good detective? In a group, make a list of the characteristics of a good detective. Use the words from exercise 2 to guide you.

'The best detective of all time'

LEARN 2 BE

Before you start
Look at the three outlines.
Who are they?
Which of the key words help you recognise them?

1 Read and answer.

Do you know these characters? They are famous, professional detectives: Sherlock Holmes, Miss Jane Marple and Hercule Poirot. People all over the world read stories of their adventures or watch them on DVDs. These three detectives were very different.

walking stick, feather, knitting needles, pen, magnifying glass, moustache, book, glasses, bow tie

Hercule Poirot was less interested in details than Sherlock Holmes. He was more interested in studying the mind of the suspects. He thought that the best tools to solve a crime were the "little grey cells" in the brain. So, he sat quietly and thought.

Sherlock Holmes is more famous than Poirot and Miss Marple. In fact, he's the most famous detective of all time. The basis of his method was observation, observation and observation. After observing an object, he made logical conclusions.

Miss Jane Marple is less famous than Holmes or Poirot, but more pleasant than them. She didn't look like a detective at all. She lived in a small village in the country and she used her experience of life in her village to solve crimes. She was wiser than Holmes because she was older than him. In fact, she was the oldest of the three.

- How did Sherlock Holmes solve crimes?
- According to Poirot, what are the best tools to solve a crime?
- Why was Miss Marple unusual?
- Which of the qualities listed in exercise 1 on page 55 describes the three detectives the best?

Grammar

The Past Simple (irregular verbs)

The lost bag

Before you start
Look at the picture. Who are these people? Where are they? What is there in the bag?

Find the words

- 1 Listen to the words below in context. Try to guess their meanings.

servant, merchant, loss, to wander, to pull

- 2 Listen again and check your guesses in the Activity Book Glossary pages 74–76 or in the classroom dictionary.

- ▶ It is someone who is paid to clean someone's house, cook for them, etc.
- ▶ It means to walk without knowing where you are going.
- ▶ It is someone who buys and sells things.

The Lost Bag

A long time ago, there lived a rich merchant. He was always dressed nicely and he carried many fine jewels with him. He travelled from one city to another. A band of camels and servants often travelled behind him in a long line. His business was buying and selling goods. He was very good and kind to poor people.

5 Once, the merchant was travelling with a lot of money. As he was on his way back home, his money bag fell to the ground. But he did not notice it. He only discovered the loss of his money when he reached home.

The merchant did not worry about the lost bag. He still had enough money for himself and for helping others. Then, there came a time when business was not 10 so good. He became an old man with very little money. The poor merchant sold everything he had and, soon, he did not have any money at all. Very often, he and his wife had nothing to eat. And then, one cold night ...

Wife: We have no more food. Let us walk to the next village where no one knows us. Someone will help poor people like us.

15 And so they walked in the cold night air. They wandered for a long time until they reached the first house in the next village. The wife was too tired to walk any more. She fell down on the steps and began to cry. The Sheikh who lived in the house heard her and opened the door.

Sheikh: Who are you? What are you doing here at this time of night?

20 The merchant and his wife told him their sad story. The Sheikh asked them to come in.

Sheikh: What colour was your bag?

Merchant: It was a round, black bag with a string around it. Inside were some jewels and a thousand dinars.

25 Sheikh: It is late and you must be very tired. Eat some hot food and rest with us for the night. Tomorrow you will feel better.

The next morning, they all sat around the table for breakfast. The Sheikh pulled an old, black bag from a box.

30 Sheikh: Now, I have a story to tell you. A long time ago, I found this bag on the road near my house. I hid it away safely. I knew that some day I could return it to its real owner. Now I am sure you are the person. Is this the bag you lost?

Merchant: Yes, it is! It's the bag that I lost. I cannot tell you how thankful I am ... I will always remember how kind you were to me.

READING

4 Read the story on page 60 and answer these questions.

- How did the merchant become poor?
- How did the Sheikh know that the merchant was the real owner of the bag?
- Why didn't the Sheikh spend the money he found?
- What would you do with the money you gained back from the Sheikh if you were the merchant?

5 In pairs, fill in the blanks with the verbs from the list.

Speaking Strategies: Interacting in discussions

- Don't be the only one speaking. Listen to what the other person says.
- When you want to say something, wait for the other person to pause.
- Invite the other person to speak, asking his/her opinions (e.g. What do you think about ... ?)

SPEAKING

7 In a group, discuss the merchant's story, following the Speaking Strategies above. What do you think about the Sheikh's actions? What would you do if you found a bag full of money? How would you try to find the owner? Take down notes.

Writing a detective story

Before you start
Check the meaning of these words. Then read the story.

police officer

Hayek went to see the Jordanian police on Thursday morning. He was very frightened.

"I think somebody wants to kidnap me tonight, Officer," he said.

"Why do you think so?" asked the police officer.
"This started three days ago. I usually get back home late from work and go right to bed. On Monday, I heard my new neighbour who lives next door arguing with his wife."

"I don't see anything wrong," said the police officer.

"They were discussing the same plan on Tuesday and Wednesday. The neighbour said:

'Omar and Waleed are going to break into the flat next door on Thursday night. Omar takes all the money and Waleed will cover up for him.'

'What if they kidnap the man? Omar and Waleed will kidnap him and ask the Jordanian police for a ransom,' his wife said."

"Mmmm," said the police officer. "Who are your new neighbours? Let us investigate them."

"They are Mr Ibrahim and Sawsan Yousef," said Mr Hayek.

"Ibrahim and Sawsan Yousef!" said the police officer.

"This case is not so difficult. There would be no victims.

You don't watch TV very often, do you?"

How did the police officer know?

Answer: Mr Ibrahim and Sawsan Yousef are the scriptwriters of a TV show. Omar and Waleed are actors.

SPEAKING AND WRITING

- 1 In a group, discuss the story and find the solution to the case. Consider the following questions: Why was Mr Hayek worried? What did the policeman know about the suspects?
- 2 In a group, solve this case answering the following questions.
 - a. What happened?
 - b. Where did it happen?
 - c. Who did it?
 - d. How did it happen?
 - e. Why did he/she do it?

One night, a panda disappeared from its cage in the zoo. In the morning, the zookeepers found the door of the circular cage was open. Nobody knew where the panda was. Only three men had keys to the zoo. A detective arrived and interviewed the three men.

"Where were you the night the panda was stolen?"

"I was having dinner at home with my family," said the zoo owner.

"I was cleaning the corners of the cages," said the zoo cleaner.

"I was feeding the lions," said the manager.

Who lied? How did the detective know?

- 3 In a group, write your own story and illustrate it. Then tell it to the class. Don't give them the answer. Let them think and then tell you! Use the story above as an example.

- 4 In a group, use your notes to discuss different types of holidays. Can you go on an adventure or on an ecological holiday in your country? Make a list of the places you can visit and of the activities you can do there.

Before you start

Take the list you made in the last lesson. Imagine you are on an adventure holiday in one of those places. Tell the class about it.

Adventure holidays are brilliant!

- 1 Read the following dialogue between Hassan and Omar. Where is Hassan? How is each member of his family spending the holiday?

Hassan: Hi, Omar! How's life?

Omar: Hassan? I thought you were on holiday. Where are you phoning from?

5 Hassan: I'm having a wonderful adventure holiday in New Zealand. It's fantastic!

10 Omar: What are you doing?

Hassan: Right now I'm lying under a tree. I'm resting because we are cycling up a mountain. We are enjoying the wonderful weather: the sun's shining! What's the weather like back home?

15 Omar: It's actually raining here! I am sitting in my bedroom, looking out of the window. So where's the rest of your family? What are they doing? Are they enjoying the holiday?

25 Hassan: Well ... Dad isn't really having fun. He broke his leg when we got here. Right now, he is sunbathing on the beach and playing chess with my younger brother. Khaled's playing hide and seek with the rest of the boys.

30 Omar: Where's Sami? He can't ride a bicycle.

35 Hassan: No, he didn't come mountain biking with me, but you know how he loves danger. He's doing rock climbing! Oh! The group leader is calling us. I'm coming! Bye, Omar! See you next week!

Grammar

The Present Continuous

AN INTELLIGENT SAILOR

The famous sailor Ahmad Bin Majid was a very intelligent traveller. This is his story.

Ahmad Bin Majid wanted to discover the world, so he started sailing when he was 17. He lived in the 15th century. Most of his travels were to the Red Sea and the western Indian Ocean. He wrote many books and poems about sailing. Indian sailors used his books in their trips.

Ahmad Bin Majid was an intelligent sailor. He examined the ship after building it. He knew the direction of the wind by putting a piece of cloth on the ship. He was also good at astrology.

SPEAKING AND WRITING

Writing Strategies: Organising ideas

- First, think of the information you want to include. Write down some ideas on a piece of paper.
- Use the model article above and a paragraph plan similar to the one in exercise 2 to help you organise your ideas.

- 1 Read the story about Ahmad Bin Majid. It goes back to the 15th century. Why do you think it was written in a recent newspaper?
- 2 In a group, answer the following questions about Ahmad Bin Majid.
 - a. Why did he want to be a traveller?
 - b. What are the places that he visited the most?
 - c. Was he an intelligent sailor? Why or why not?
 - d. Did he help other sailors? If yes, how?
- 3 In a group, write a newspaper article about a famous traveller's story and the places he visited. Illustrate with pictures and drawings. Read the Writing Strategies to be guided in your writing.

1 Complete this dialogue with the correct form of the verbs in brackets.

Zeina: Hi Nadia! How are you?

Nadia: Zeina? Where are you? I thought you were in Disneyland with Malek and the children.

Zeina: That's precisely where I am! We (1) _____ (have) a great time.

Nadia: I'm glad to hear it. And tell me: is it as brilliant as they say?

Zeina: It's fantastic! Now I can understand why it is the most popular amusement park in the world.

Nadia: Are Malek and the boys enjoying it there?

Zeina: Yes, they are. Malek (2) _____ (fish) right now. Sami (3) _____ (play) golf, and Tareq (4) _____ (ski).

Nadia: And what (5) _____ you and the girls _____ (do)?

Zeina: I (6) _____ (relax) on the beach and the girls (7) _____ (play) at the Neverland Club.

2 Use these words to ask questions about the above dialogue.

- family / Zeina / her / ? / are / Where / and
- are / boys / ? / the / What / doing
- on / relaxing / Zeina / beach / ? / Is / the
- the / doing / ? / are / What / girls

3 Now in pairs, answer them.

4 In pairs, write the names of different places on pieces of paper—use the list below to guide you. Then you and your partner take turns to choose a piece of paper, and ask and answer questions to find out where you are.

- | | | |
|---------|---------------|-------------|
| theatre | café | market |
| museum | train station | living room |
| school | swimming pool | beach |

Example

A: Are you reading? B: No, I'm not.
 A: Are you buying books? B: Yes, I am.
 A: You are at a bookshop! B: Yes, I am.

5 Imagine you are on holiday in New Zealand. Write five sentences about what you and the members of your family are doing. In pairs, ask and answer questions.

Example

A: What's your father doing?
 B: He's playing football.

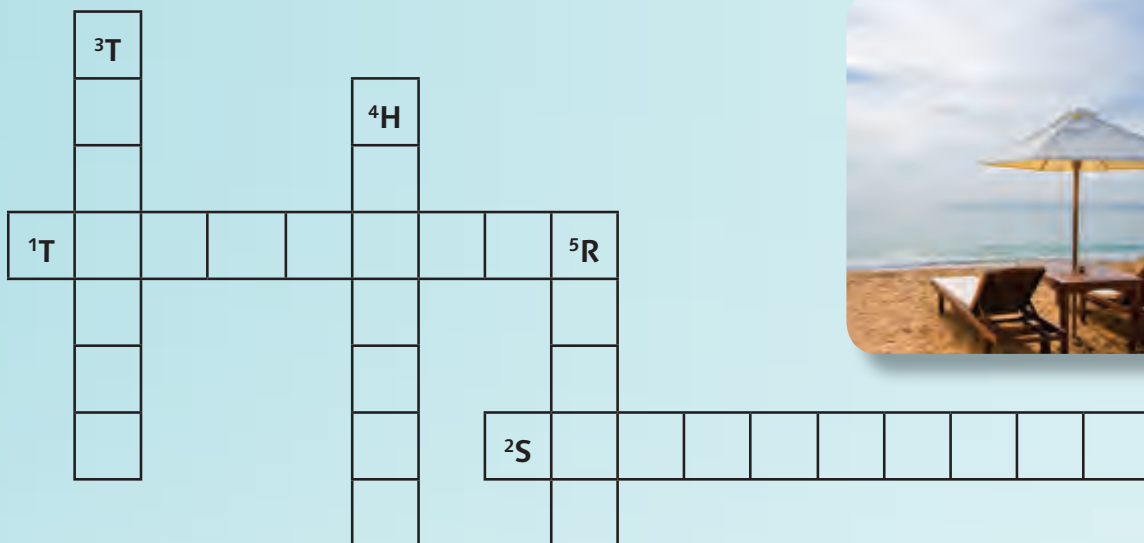

6 Put the following words under the three headings in the table below.

ecotourism traveller sunbathe lie scholar adventure holiday relax historian beach holiday sailor

Types of holiday	People	Actions

Ibn Battuta is the short form of the name of this famous traveller.

What was his full name?

When was he born?

Where was he born?

Make a tourist brochure

Before you start

Find a large sheet of coloured paper, crayons or marker pens, photos of a place Ibn Battuta visited, a glue stick and scissors.

Your task is ...

To make a tourist brochure about a place Ibn Battuta visited, and tell the class about it.

Malaga

This is Malaga today. Six hundred years ago, when Ibn Battuta visited it, he said:
"Malaga is smaller than Granada. But it is one of the largest and most beautiful towns of Andalusia."

This is the Alcazaba. Badis, ruler of Malaga, built it in 1057 CE. This fortress is one of the largest Muslim military buildings in Spain. Don't miss the view over the town and the port.

Finally, visit the Roman Theatre. It is right next to the Alcazaba.

A Your first assignment

Find out more details about the place. You can use a search engine or the library. Read about the importance of the place, where it was, what important buildings you can see there and what important people lived there.

B Your second assignment

Write and illustrate a tourist brochure about the place Ibn Battuta visited. When you are ready, present it to the class.

One Thousand and One Nights

One Thousand and One Nights is a collection of Arabic stories and is over one thousand years old. It is also known as Alf Layla wa Layla in Arabic.

The stories are told by a character called Scheherazade who is the new wife of the king Shahryar. Scheherazade has to prove to the king that she deserves to stay alive. This is why she decides to start telling him a new story each night. Then before the king goes to sleep she stops the story so Shehryar has to let her live to complete it the following day. One thousand and one nights are passed in this way.

Some of the famous characters in the stories are people from the past like caliph Haroun Al-Rashid and his vizier Ja'far Al-Barmaki. In addition to the original stories, the European edition of One Thousand and One Nights also includes well-known stories such as "Aladdin's Wonderful Lamp", "Ali Baba and the Forty Thieves", "The Voyages of Sinbad the Sailor" and "The Boy Judge".

The One Thousand and One Nights are about many things, including religion, friendship and travel. They have now been translated into many languages and are read by people from all around the world.

The Boy Judge

adapted from One Thousand and One Nights

In the time of Caliph Haroun, a man called Ali Cogia lived in Baghdad. Ali was not rich; he was a seller of sweets and cakes. He had no wife or children, and he had enough for his own needs. Every week he put a small gold piece into a jar and over the years he saved more than a thousand gold pieces, 'more than enough for the times when I am old,' he said to himself.

He was a good man and gave money to the poor but he had never made the pilgrimage to Mecca. His life in Baghdad was good and the road to Mecca was difficult but he decided to go. He hid his gold in the jar under some olives. He foolishly thought he could trust his friend, so he left the jar with him.

'Brother Massoud,' he said, 'you know that I am going to Mecca. Can I leave this jar of olives with you till I come back?'

Massoud was glad to help his friend. He told him to leave the olives in the corner of his shop. 'They will be safe there.'

30 Ali put on his best clothes for the road; he wore his green and golden-yellow thobe with a green belt and a purple turban and set off to his destination. On the road, every time he felt tired he stopped to rest and discovered many beautiful new places.

After many weeks, Ali reached Mecca. He completed his religious duties as a pilgrim. When the time came for him to leave, he realised that he would like to keep travelling. Some merchants told him, 'Come back with us to our home country. There is always work there for a maker of sweets.' So Ali went with them and stayed for two years. After that he moved on to Damascus. Time passed. It was nearly seven years since he had left Baghdad. Then one day he decided he would like to return home to Baghdad.

On the same day that Ali left Damascus, Massoud's wife needed some olives. There weren't any in the house, and the shop in their street was shut. Massoud remembered that there were some in his shop. He thought that if Ali was not back after seven years, perhaps he would not return at all. So he went to take his friend's food. The top layer of olives was quite dry so he put his whole arm in to reach to the bottom. When he pulled it out he was holding a gold piece in his hand. Finding that the jar contained many gold pieces, he 70 threw out the olives and buried the gold in his garden. Then he bought new olives to refill the jar.

‘Seven years is a long time,’ he said to himself, ‘but I can’t be sure that Ali Cogia won’t return. If he does come back, I shall have a jar of olives to give to him. And that is what he asked me to look after – a jar of olives.’

80 A few weeks later, Ali Cogia came back to Baghdad. He went to Massoud’s house to get his gold. ‘My friend,’ he said to Massoud, ‘you have looked after this jar for seven years. Now I want to give you something. You will see what is in the jar that you have kept so well.’

90 With these words he put his hand deep into the jar. But instead of finding gold pieces, he found more olives.

‘Where is my gold?’ he asked at last.

95 ‘Gold? What gold? You did not tell me about a jar of gold. You only gave me this jar of olives.’

100 Ali was a really good man so he asked his friend to be honest and said: “My dear friend, if you need the money for your family or your shop, you can always repay me week by week, so do not worry about anything, Massoud.”

105 This made the thief even more nervous and he insisted that he did not know anything about any gold. Ali felt really disappointed with his friend’s behaviour and asked for a judge. It was not easy for Ali to do so because he loved his friend. The judge said that Ali was not telling the truth because nobody had seen him put the gold in the jar.

115 Ali was angry at the judge’s words because they were very unfair with him, so he decided to deal with the problem himself. He wrote to the caliph and gave his letter to one of the caliph’s servants. By this time, the story of the jar of olives had passed through all the markets of Baghdad. Everybody was talking about it, some believing Ali, and others believing Massoud. So when the caliph got Ali’s letter, he read it with care.

120 That night he called for his vizier and said, ‘Let us put on plain clothes tonight and walk in the city. I want to hear what people are saying about this Ali Cogia. Is he a fool, or a man of truth, or a thief?’

135 They walked through the streets, they heard many comments about both men and everyone was trying to solve this case. Some came up with stupid solutions which made the caliph laugh loudly; others were really good but no one could prove anything. The caliph and the vizier kept on walking and saw some children playing. One boy was playing the judge, and two others were playing Ali and Massoud. The boy judge was asking good questions. The caliph had an idea. He told his vizier to invite the boy judge to the palace the next morning. He also asked for the judge, Ali Cogia, Massoud, two olive merchants and the jar of olives.

155 The next day all these people came before the caliph. They were all afraid: the judge thought that he might have made a mistake; Ali was afraid because the caliph might think he was a thief; Massoud was afraid because he was a thief; the merchants were afraid because they did not know what the caliph might know about them; and the boy was afraid because he had never visited such a wonderful, huge palace before ...

'Come,' said the caliph to the boy. 'I heard you judge these two men in play last night. Today you shall really do it.' The caliph told the judge to watch and learn.

The boy asked for the jar. Then he put his arm into the jar, pulled out some olives and gave a few to everyone who was present at the trial, slowly eating one himself.

'These are very good olives,' he said. Everyone agreed.

Then he asked Massoud if he had eaten one before today. Massoud said that he had not even touched them. Then the boy turned to the olive merchants and asked if they enjoyed the olives. He said to them, 'They are good olives, although seven years old.'

'Seven years old? Are you sure of what you are saying? This can't be true! They still have their colour and they are not even wrinkled,' cried one of the merchants.

The other merchant agreed: 'I can see by looking at them that they are not so old. No olive is any good after three years. These olives are fresh.'

Massoud's face became white. His eyes were turned to the ground. 'I took the gold,' he said. 'It's in a hole in my garden.' The caliph then spoke: 'You know how the law punishes thieves.'

But before Massoud could answer, Ali said, 'Oh great caliph, don't cut off his hand. He was once a good friend to me. Let him go with a beating.'

The caliph looked at the boy judge. 'A beating would be enough,' the boy said.

'Then let it be so,' said the caliph.

So Massoud kept his hand, but lost his good name; Ali lost a friend, but got his gold back; and the boy judge was sent by the caliph to study law. For as the great Haroun said, 'Twenty jars of gold can't buy a good judge.'

2 Now, check your answers in a dictionary.

READING

3 Read the story again and answer these questions.

- 1. What did Ali keep?
- 2. Where did he leave it?
- 3. Why did Ali not return to Baghdad immediately?
- 4. What did Massoud do when he discovered the gold?
- 5. How did the caliph try to discover the truth?
- 6. In your opinion, who do you think helped Ali the most?
- 7. What do you think the moral of the story is?
- 8. What is your favourite character in the story? Justify your answer.

4 Match the names of the characters with the facts and qualities from the story.

a. Ali	1. knows the laws of the kingdom unfair does not observe well
b. Massoud	2. poor makes sweets honest
c. the judge	3. has a shop next to Ali's a thief

- i. Ali asks the caliph to let Massoud go with a beating, instead of having his hand cut off.
- j. The caliph asks Ali, Massoud, the judge, the boy judge and two olive merchants to come to his palace.

LISTENING

6  Listen to the discussion and say what or who the underlined words refer to.

1. 'I heard you judge these two men in play last night.'
2. He said to them, 'They are good olives although seven years old.'
3. 'I can see by looking at them that they are not so old.'
4. His eyes were turned to the ground.

SPEAKING

7 Imagine that you heard the story of the missing gold as it passed through the streets of the city. Work in a group of three and choose to play one character each (Ali, Massoud or the judge). Make notes on what you think your character would say. If you are Ali, how would you explain the situation? If you are Massoud, how would you try to defend yourself? If you are the judge, how would you try to find out the truth? Work together to roleplay the scene.

WRITING

8 On his way back from pilgrimage, Ali spent some time in Jordan. Imagine the things he saw there. Try to design a brochure about some of these things. Refer to page 77 for some tips on writing a brochure.

Module 1

The Present Simple

- We use the Present Simple to talk about things that we do every day/month/week, always, never, sometimes, often.
I always arrive at the airport early.
- We form the Present Simple with the base form of the verb for all persons and pronouns, except for the 3rd person singular. We add -s at the end of the verb for he, she, it.
The captain tells me about the flight details.
The plane takes off.
- We use do/does + not + the base form of the verb to form the negative.
A pilot does not fly more than 100 hours a month.
Fishermen do not need a lot of experience.

Module 2

The Imperative

- We use the imperative:
 1. to give instructions or commands
Open your books at page 23.
Don't talk!
 2. to give advice
Turn off the computer when you don't use it.
- We form the imperative with the base form of the verb. The subject of the imperative is always you.
Recycle old envelopes.
- We use do + not + the base form of the verb to form the negative.
Don't throw away used paper cups!

Adverbs of Time and Frequency

- We use certain adverbs with the Present Simple to indicate how often we do things. These adverbs are: always, sometimes, never.
I always turn off my computer.
I sometimes recycle old envelopes.
My father never drives me to school.
- In a sentence, we place these adverbs after the subject and before the verb.
My friend Peter never recycles old envelopes.

Module 3

Countable and Uncountable Nouns

- Some English nouns are countable. They:
 - have a singular and a plural form

flower – flowers

- can take a/an or a number in front of them

There is a supermarket opposite my house.
I've got five friends.

- Some English nouns are uncountable. They:

- have no plural form and always appear with a singular verb:

This tea isn't very good.

- cannot take a/an or a number in front of them:

This coffee is excellent, but the bread isn't.

- take some, any, a little, a lot of in front of them:

There isn't any sugar in this bowl.

There's a lot of butter in the fridge.

There is/There are + countable nouns

- We use There is/There are to say that a countable noun is present in a place.
There is a theatre near my house.
There are four underground stations near the British Museum.
- We use Is/Are there + any/a/an to ask about the presence of countable nouns.
Is there a train station near your house?
Are there any cars in the street?
- We use There is + not + a/an and There are + not + any to form the negative for countable nouns.
There isn't a train station near my house.
There aren't any cars in the street.
- We use How many ... ? to ask about quantity for countable nouns.
How many markets are there around here?
There are a lot.

There is + uncountable nouns

- We use There is + some to say that an uncountable noun is present in a place.
There is some coffee in the tin.
- We use Is there + any to ask about the presence of uncountable nouns.
Is there any cheese in the fridge?
- We use There is + not + any to form the negative for uncountable nouns.
There isn't any coffee in the tin.
- We use How much ... ? to ask about amount for uncountable nouns.
How much coffee is there in the tin?
There isn't any.

Module 4

The Past Simple [to be]

- We use the Past Simple of the verb to be to talk about past situations.
Jordan was a centre for travellers.
- Was and Were are the forms of the verb to be in the past.
The pyramid was a very large monument.
The markets in ancient Jordan were very busy.
- We use was/were + not to form the negative.
Petra wasn't a world wonder until recently.
Pyramids weren't tombs for people, but for kings and queens.
- We put Was/Were before the subject to form the interrogative.
Was Petra one of the ancient world wonders?
Were the cities in Jordan a centre point for people to meet?
- We may put an interrogative word at the beginning of the sentence.
Why did they build the Pyramids?

The Past Simple [regular verbs]

- We use the Past Simple to talk about past events.
Archaeologists explored ancient locations.
- We use did + not + the base form of the verb to form the negative.
Petra didn't lose its ancient glory.
- We put Did before the subject to form the interrogative.
Did archaeologists build the Pyramids?
- We add -ed to the infinitive of regular verbs to form the past.
live – lived use – used vote – voted

Module 5

The Comparative

- We use the comparative to compare two people or things.
Sherlock Holmes is wiser than Dr Watson.
- We use -er + than to form the comparative of one-syllable adjectives or two-syllable adjectives that end in -y.
Miss Marple was older than Hercule Poirot.
She was brainier than other women detectives.
- We use more/less + than to form the comparative of two-syllable adjectives that do not end in -y and adjectives with more than two syllables.
Miss Marple is more famous than Poirot.
Poirot is less logical than Holmes.

The Superlative

- We use the superlative to compare more than two people or things.
Miss Marple is the oldest detective.
- We use the + -est to form the superlative of one-syllable adjectives or two-syllable adjectives that end in -y.
Miss Marple is the wisest/brainiest of women detectives.
- We use the most + adjective to form the superlative of two-syllable adjectives that do not end in -y and adjectives with more than two syllables.
Sherlock Holmes is the most famous detective in history.
Poirot was the most arrogant detective ever.

Irregular Comparatives and Superlatives

- Good and bad are irregular adjectives. Their comparatives are better than and worse than. The same rule applies to the compound adjective well-known.
Holmes was a better detective than Watson.
Poirot was a worse detective than Holmes.
Poirot is better-known than Miss Marple.
- The superlative of good and bad are the best and the worst.
Wolfe was the best detective in New York.
Clouseau is the worst detective in history.
Holmes is the world's best-known detective.

Module 6

The Present Continuous

- We use the Present Continuous to talk about activities that are happening at the time of speaking.
I'm having an adventure holiday in Jordan.
Mum's reading a book.
We are having a great time.
- We use am/is/are + base form of the verb + -ing to form the Present Continuous.
I'm lying under a tree.
He's playing hide and seek.
They're watching a DVD.
- We use am/is/are not + base form of the verb + -ing to form the negative.
Dad is not having fun.
We aren't playing football.
- We put Am/Is/Are before the subject to form the interrogative.
Is your sister riding a bicycle?
Are your parents sunbathing?
- We may put an interrogative word at the beginning of the sentence.
What are your brothers doing?
