A. Read the following text carefully, and then in your ANSWER BOOKLET answer all the questions that follow. Your answers should be based on the text:

Independence Day, May 25, 2008, was very special. On that day, Mustafa Salameh became the first Jordanian man to climb Mount Everest. He has now joined an elite club. Apart from exhaustion and a little frostbite. Mr.Salameh was in good health and happy after 72day climb.

For much of the climb Mr.Salameh had been fighting extreme cold, strong winds, dizzying heights and dangerously low levels of oxygen. It was very difficult, but he knew he had a great Nepalese guide supporting him and this helped him to keep going.

Mr.Salameh had carried with him heavy climbing equipment, oxygen tanks, food and a Jordanian flag presented by His Royal Highness Prince Ali. It was his third attempt at the summit, and he had been preparing for it for many months. The first try in 2005had nearly killed him and the second in 2007ended through illness.

Mr. Salameh efforts were noticed at home, and king Abdullah donated sponsorship money for the expedition and knighted him the High Independence Medal. This sponsorship had allowed him to give up his job and train for a year to reach the summit.

This is only the latest in a series of achievements for Mr.Salameh, who apart from climbing the world's seven highest peaks has a Master's degree, he is fluent English and international sign language and in Japanese he is also a fitness instructor life coach.

Read the following text carefully, and then in your ANSWER BOOKLET answer all the questions that follow. Your answers should be based on the text:

When large numbers of people move from their homes in country areas to find better- paid jobs in towns and cities. This phenomenon is called depopulation can lead to overcrowding in cities as well as for fewer people in country areas.

One example of this phenomenon is the Garrigues area of Spain, about one hour 'drive from Barcelona and because it is high and not close to the sea, winter temperatures are quite low. The area has an annual rainfall level of 482mm which falls in only 47 days of the year. Historically, it was a successful agricultural area; on the higher ground, the farmers grew almonds and vines while in the river valleys, wheat, corn, beans and sunflowers were the traditional crops. The area was particularly well-known for its high-quality olive oil which was grown mainly for export.

The population of the area was at its highest about 150 years ago. But as farming became less and less profitable, and unemployment grew, the population began to move to the cities to find work. This trend started in 1860 and has continued to this day. Now some villages consist mainly of elderly people. The area is suffering from the effects of depopulation, such as poor public services and deserted farms.

In some parts of Europe in recent years, however, the move from the country to the city has been reversed as wealthy people move to the countryside to escape from the overcrowding, pollution and stress of city life. Some are moving permanently, but many are buying holiday or weekend homes which are empty for much of the year.

A. Read the following text carefully, and then in your ANSWER BOOKLET answer all the questions that follow. Your answers should be based on the text:

In 2002, Steve Fossett became the first person to travel solo round the world in a hot air balloon. His balloon, The Spirit of Freedom, used a mixture of helium and hot air and was 42 metres high and 18 metres wide.

Fossett's journey started in Western Australia. From there, he crossed the Pacific Ocean, next; he travelled across Chile and down round Argentina. After that, he flew over the Southern Atlantic Ocean towards South Africa, then over the Indian Ocean to reach Australia.

This record-breaking solo journey took only 14 days, 19 hours and 50 minutes altogether, but conditions for Fossett were not comfortable. He only slept for four hours in every 24-hour period and never slept for more than 45 minutes at one time, he frequently had to leave his tiny cabin to go outside. By the time he arrives in Australia, he had travelled 33, 195 km.

Steve Fossett was especially pleased with this successful journey as it was his sixth attempt. On the journey, Fossett also broke the world speed record for a manned balloon flight. His first attempt had been six years earlier in 1996.

In addition to this record, Steve Fossett holds four other world records for non- stop journeys round the world: as a sailor, and as a solo air pilot. All in all, Fossett has set 110 records in five different sports.

A. Read the following text carefully, and then in your ANSWER BOOKLET answer all the questions that follow. Your answers should be based on the text:

These are just three of the changes that have affected European travelling habits in recent years. In different ways, they are all dependent upon advanced technology.

Online booking: The cheapest and quickest way of buying train or airline tickets is now to book "online". This involves logging on to the Internet, finding the correct website, typing in your travel requirements and personal details and paying by credit card. Passengers can then print a receipt which may also be the "ticket" which they show at the airport or railway station.

Eurotunnel: In 1994 a tunnel linking Britain with the mainland of Europe opened to the public. This complex and costly engineering project which had been planned for many years was paid for jointly by the French and British governments.

Electronic road tolls: Motorists have to pay to drive on motorways in Italy. Under the original system, all cars had to stop at kiosks at the beginning or the end of a section of motorway and pay cash. Now, there is a high-tech alternative called Telepas. Under this new system, cars are "recognised" so they do not have to stop. The money is taken automatically from each driver's bank account.

A. Read the following text carefully, and then in your ANSWER BOOKLET answer all the questions that follow. Your answers should be based on the text:

Until 1953, nobody had climbed Mount Everest, the highest mountain in the world. Then in 1953, the mountaineer Edmund Hillary and the Nepalese Tenzing Norgay succeeded in reaching the summit. In the next thirty years there were other Everest 'firsts', including the first solo climb and the first climb by a woman.

All these people had taken bottles of oxygen to help them climb, but many mountaineers wanted to climb using their natural ability, without oxygen. Two of these were Reinhold Messner and Peter Habeler. In 1975, they amazed people by climbing Gasherbrum, the 11th highest mountain in the world, without oxygen.

When Messner and Habeler started planning to climb Everest without oxygen, other climbers called them foolish. They warned them that the oxygen levels at the top of Everest were so low that breathing would be difficult and that the men would risk brain damage if they did this. However, Messner and Habeler did not listen, and made their first attempts in April 1978. After two failures, they nearly gave up, but decided to make a final attempt.

At these very high altitudes, with so little oxygen in the air, everything the men did took much longer than normal. Every few metres, they fell down exhausted and had to rest. Eventually, at about 2 pm on May 8th 1978, Messner and Habeler became the first men to reach the summit of Everest without oxygen.
