Special Olympics

In the early 1960 Eunice Kennedy-Shriver / a university athlete from the USA , decided to give children with intellectual disabilities the chance to take part in sports. She felt that they were unfairly excluded from sporting events. So she held a one-day events for these children in her own garden. Eight years later, in 1968 CE ,the first International Special Summer Olympic Games were held in the USA. A thousand people with intellectual disabilities from the USA and Canada competed in different sports.

Today, Special Olympics is the world's largest sports organization for children and adults with intellectual disabilities. The Special Olympics World Games are held every two years, with more than 32 Olympic-style sports, including gymnastics, football and swimming.

El-Araby Houfeya is a Special Olympics athlete from Morocco. When he was very young, he was told that he had an intellectual disability. He accepted that he would never achieve the same success as his six siblings. He learn how to read and write, and spent a lot of time playing football with other boys in the neighborhood. Then, on day in 1992 CE, he took part in a football competition. Although he hadn't had any formal training, he impressed spectators with his skill . After the game , Princess Lalla Amina of Morocco , who supported Special Olympics in her country , asked to meet this talented boy .

She told him about Special Olympics Morocco . El-Araby Houfeya joined the organization and began to take part in their events . It was a moment that changed his life .

El-Araby Houfeya did horse riding and played football in Special Olympics comptrtions , and , through the organization , began to travel to different countries , His confidence in himself grew , and he realized that perhaps his sporting talent wasn't the only talent he had . He began to look for employment , and eventually took a job with a secunty company , This helped him to become more financially independent .

Today El_Araby Houfeya is a successful married man and a proud father . He has been promoted in his job , but he says he will always support Special Olympics .
