امتحان الوحدة الرابعة

Q1: Read the following text and answer the questions:

We all have to seize the opportunity and realise that the hotel will not only give us work, but offer improvements to the whole area around the beach. The developers have promised a new road with wide pavements to and from the beach and a replacement of the sad old beach restaurants which have been there for years.

We have asked for such development for years and I'm so happy that the developers have come up with a solution to help local people. Not only will the hotel need local workers but there are sure to be other jobs in tourism when the hotel guests start to arrive.

I was very surprised to hear that there are protesters who are against the plan. Just last week, some activists tried to stop lorries from entering the beach to start building work, and I reported the incident to the police. Everyone has the right to protest, but such obstruction is illegal. There has even been an accusation that I am working to promote the hotel company, but this is not true.

- What is the primary benefit of the hotel development mentioned in the text?
 - It will improve beach safety.
 - It will create job opportunities and improve the area.
 - It will reduce traffic near the beach.
 - It will protect the beach restaurants.
- What has been promised as part of the development plan for the area?
 - New beachside apartments.
 - A waterpark and entertainment center.
 - A new road with wide pavements and improved restaurants.
 - A parking lot for beachgoers.
- How does the writer feel about the protesters?
 - Sympathetic but believes their actions are illegal.
 - Completely supportive of their concerns.
 - Indifferent to their objections.
 - Opposed to their concerns and dismissive of their rights.
- What accusation has been made against the writer, and how does the writer respond?
 - They are accused of destroying the beach, and they admit fault.
 - They are accused of working for the developers, and they deny it.

- C) They are accused of organizing protests, and they justify it.
D) They are accused of illegal activities, and they explain it was unintentional.
5. Why does the writer support the hotel development?
A) It has been a long-awaited solution to local issues.
B) It will make the area more exclusive and private.
C) It will eliminate all current beach restaurants.
D) It will stop illegal protests in the area.
6. What action did the writer take in response to the protesters?
A) They joined the protest to voice concerns.
B) They filed a formal complaint to the developers.
C) They reported the protesters to the police.
D) They encouraged the protesters to seek legal solutions.
7. What is the writer's attitude toward the old beach restaurants?
A) They believe the restaurants should be preserved.
B) They describe the restaurants as outdated and in need of replacement.
C) They think the restaurants are vital to the beach's charm.
D) They view the restaurants as a threat to development.
8. What type of jobs does the writer expect will arise from the hotel development?
A) Jobs only for hotel construction workers.
B) Local jobs in the hotel and tourism sector.
C) Seasonal jobs for fishermen and vendors.
D) Jobs primarily for foreign workers.
9. How does the writer describe the response from the developers to local needs?
A) As slow and insufficient.
B) As unnecessary and intrusive.
C) As helpful and addressing long-standing issues.
D) As purely profit-driven.
10. What does the writer suggest about the protesters' behavior?
A) Their actions are a necessary way to stop the project.
B) Their protests are respectful and within the law.
C) Their actions are disruptive and against the law.
D) They have the full support of local residents.

Q2: Read the following text and answer the questions:

As a source of music and information, it seems that radio is out of date in the eyes (or more appropriately, the ears) of the digital generation. Statistics support this anecdotal evidence. They reveal that we are abandoning radio in huge numbers. Major radio stations seem to be satisfied with keeping their older audience happy. Conversely, streaming services now account for over 50% of millennials' daily listening. It should come as no surprise that those aged 15 to 19 do nearly half their listening on smartphones.

Never has it been easier to choose your own music, or to take it with you wherever you go. In fact, I have to wonder why anyone would want to listen to someone else's selection when it's so easy to create your own playlists. If you do this, you never have to listen to music you don't like. Plus, if you pay for your streaming service, you also eliminate the annoying adverts that invade your headspace constantly on many commercial stations.

If I'm relaxing, I usually choose to watch rather than listen. This means I look online, and never check the radio. If I'm working, the last thing I want is an enthusiastic DJ talking nonsense, followed by a song I don't like, and then another three minutes of boring adverts. No, I'm afraid I can only conclude that radio is practically dead and gone.

1. What does the text suggest about the popularity of radio among the younger generation?

- A) The younger generation prefers radio over other sources of music and information.
- B) Radio remains the most popular source of music and information for all age groups.
- C) The younger generation is abandoning radio in favor of other music platforms.
- D) Radio stations are adapting to attract a younger audience.

2. According to the text, why might someone prefer streaming services over radio?

- A) Streaming services provide higher sound quality.
- B) Streaming services allow users to create personalized playlists.
- C) Streaming services broadcast fewer live shows.
- D) Streaming services are only available to paying customers.

3. What role do advertisements play in the author's argument against radio?

- A) Advertisements are seen as a necessary part of radio's appeal.
- B) The author believes advertisements make radio more engaging.
- C) Advertisements on the radio are viewed as annoying and intrusive.
- D) Radio advertisements help attract a younger audience.

4. What is one key reason the author gives for not listening to the radio while working?

- A) The radio has poor sound quality.
- B) The author prefers to listen to podcasts while working.

- C) The radio interrupts focus with DJ commentary, disliked music, and adverts.
D) The author believes radio signals are unreliable.
5. What does the text imply about the behavior of radio stations?
- A) Radio stations are aggressively targeting younger listeners.
B) Radio stations are focused on satisfying their older audience.
C) Radio stations are transitioning to online platforms to compete with streaming services.
D) Radio stations are increasing the amount of music they play to attract more listeners.
6. Which of the following best summarizes the author's opinion on the current state of radio?
- A) Radio is thriving despite competition from other platforms.
B) Radio is outdated and less relevant in the digital age.
C) Radio remains a valuable source of entertainment for all age groups.
D) Radio is struggling but still holds a unique place in modern culture.
7. According to the text, what percentage of daily listening by millennials is accounted for by streaming services?
- A) Nearly 25% B) Over 50% C) About 75% D) Less than 10%
8. What does the author suggest is an advantage of paying for a streaming service?
- A) Access to exclusive music content.
B) Higher sound quality compared to radio.
C) Elimination of advertisements.
D) Improved user interface.
9. What is one reason the author gives for not checking the radio when relaxing?
- A) They do not have a radio device available.
B) They prefer visual entertainment over audio content.
C) They enjoy radio only during commutes.
D) They dislike the technical limitations of radio.
10. What is the tone of the author towards radio in the text?
- A) Neutral and factual.
B) Optimistic and encouraging.
C) Dismissive and critical.
D) Nostalgic and sentimental.
